SOMEONE HAS BEEN HERE BEFORE US

A little girl, not used to traveling, was making a train trip across the country with her mother. Looking out the train window, she could see rivers and streams ahead. She worried how the train would be able to cross those bodies of water.

As they drew near the river for the first time, the little girl saw the bridge which was to provide the way over. Two or three times the same thing happened. Finally, the little girl leaned back in the train seat and with a long sigh of relief and confidence said, “Somebody has been here before us and built bridges for us all the way.”

Christ has been here before us and he has built bridges for us all the way – the bridge from Sin to forgiveness, from despair to hope, from doubt to faith, from death to life. And He expects us, His followers, to be bridge builders as we pass through this world, building bridges of understanding and love between us and our fellow humans.
